

MESSAGE NOTES

PERSONAL APPLICATION _____

Ecclesiastes 4:9-10 says that “two are better than one” and can lift each other up. How can our group support one another as we seek to be “Christian case makers” in our circles of influence?

SMALL GROUP DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

For the week of April 27, 2025

OPENING DISCUSSION _____

1. What was your first impression of J. Warner Wallace's approach to faith as a former cold-case detective?
2. How does viewing Christianity through the lens of a detective investigation shift the way you see your faith?
3. What stood out to you about Wallace's journey from atheism to belief? How can we relate or apply that to our own stories?
2. Jesus told Thomas in John 20:29, "Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed." How does Wallace's journey from atheism to belief inspire your own faith walk or help you relate to skeptics?
3. 2 Peter 1:16 claims the apostles were "eyewitnesses of His majesty." One could argue that the Gospels are eyewitness testimonies. How does this change or affirm your view of the New Testament?

BIBLICAL REFLECTION _____

1. In Luke 1:1-4, Luke writes that he carefully investigated everything to give Theophilus "certainty" about Jesus. How does that resonate with Wallace's investigative approach to faith?
4. Read Acts 17:11. What stands out to you about the Bereans and their approach to receiving and examining the message? How can we reflect that same level of diligence and discernment in testing what we hear—and in how we share truth with others?

Why is it important for us to examine things extensively, especially as it relates to God, the Bible and Jesus?
